Solution 16: What is a Purchase Book? A Purchase Book is a type of subsidiary book that keeps track of the transactions of credit purchases of goods and services. In simple words, a purchase book is a register that records the credit purchases of products or services of an organization. A purchase book comes with five columns that define the date, details of the creditors, Ledger Folio number, invoice number, price, and other details of the purchase. What is a Purchase Return Book? In several cases, the customers require to return certain items to the trader or supplier due to a bunch of reasons, including poor product quality, damaged product, and many more. All the types of returns are recorded in a book termed the Purchase Return Book. It is a daybook that keeps track of each purchase returns, and it is also titled the "Return Outward Book" or "Purchase Returns Day Book." What are the reasons for purchase returns? Here are the primary reasons for purchase returns –● The purchaser acquired an excessive quantity of products, and now he desires to return the unused.● Wrong goods were delivered to the buyer.● The goods do not meet the benchmark of quality or maybe inaccurate or non-functional. Explain the process of Purchase Return. As explained in DK Goel Solutions class 11 Chapter 12, When a good is eligible for a return, and the buyer desires to return them to the suppliers, a debit note is issued for the seller. The seller account gets debited, and the purchase return account gets credited on the successful return of the goods to the supplier. What is Debit Note? A debit note is a note issued by the purchaser in case he desires to return goods to the suppliers. The debit note is supplied to the seller, and the seller's account is debited with the amount mentioned in the debit note, and the purchaser's account gets credited with the same amount. What is a Credit Note? A credit note is basically a receipt or credit memo supplied by the seller to the purchaser to confirm that the goods have been acknowledged as return inwards and a credit has been released for the buyer's account with the eligible amount. error: Content is protected !!
